What is Kinship Care?

What is Kinship Care?

Kinship Care refers to a temporary or permanent arrangement in which a relative—or any non-relative adult who has a long-standing relationship or bond with the child and/or family—has taken over the full-time, substitute care of a child whose parents are unable or unwilling to do so. Reasons for this can include death or chronic illness, substance abuse, incarceration, domestic violence, child abuse or neglect, teenage pregnancy, unemployment, poverty, or other problems. Kinship care includes those relationships established through an informal arrangement, a legal custody or guardianship order, a relative foster care placement, or a kinship adoption. Regardless of the type of kinship care arrangement, the kinship caregivers' voluntary commitment to devote their lives to the children in their care is a courageous, life-changing decision.

Are you raising your relatives?

How This Booklet Can Help

This booklet is written for kinship caregivers. It has information and ideas about:

- Meeting the child's needs
- Common problems
- Services that can help
- Applying for cash benefits
- Making decisions about legal issues
- Services for children who have been abused, neglected or abandoned

If your answer is yes, you are not alone. According to Grandfamilies.org, 227,862 Ohio children live in homes owned by grandparents or other relatives. Furthermore, 99, 877 Ohio grandparents are responsible for grandchildren who live with them.

Kinship caregivers may be unable to obtain public assistance to buy food and clothing, to qualify and re-certify for public housing, to obtain medical care, or to enroll the children under their care in school. Caregivers and the children they raise may also experience serious emotional stress, in addition to their economic problems. Many kinship caregivers are grandparents and other older individuals who are unexpectedly raising a family for the second time. The stress of caring for young children, accompanied by their own difficulties, can be overwhelming.

Additionally, many kinship caregivers are left to care for children who may be dealing with issues resulting from the absence of their parents, prior abuse or neglect, behavioral problems or mental health needs. Regardless of the circumstances that have made these arrangements necessary, all kinship care families share the same need for resources, information, and government and community support. The Ohio Resource Guide seeks to address these needs.

Frequently Asked Questions About Kinship Care

1. I have just taken children into my home. What immediate issues might I face?

The safety of the children may be your first concern if you or a public children services agency (PCSA) removed them from a difficult and unsafe home environment. It may be necessary for you or the PCSA to assume legal custody of the children in order to continue to provide them with a safe home until it is determined that they can return to their parent.

2. Can the child's biological parent(s) take the child from my home when I have told them "no"?

It depends on the child(ren)'s legal status. You have full rights to say "no" only if you have adopted the children. If you have legal custody, the parents may be granted the right to visit the children by court order. However, if there is no court order, they could take them without your consent. Legal custody means that you are responsible for taking care of the children until they are adults. If the county has custody of the children in your care, the biological parent cannot take them without the agreement of the PCSA or a court order. If you have not adopted the child(ren) and neither you nor the PCSA has either legal custody of the child(ren) or a temporary court injunction preventing the child(ren)'s removal, then the biological parent(s) could take back the child(ren) without your consent. If they do so, and you fear for their safety, you need to contact the PCSA to intervene.

3. If I become my little brother's foster parent, can I keep him with me until he is grown?

As a foster parent, you would not have legal custody of your brother. The PCSA would have custody. By law, the county is charged with seeking a stable, permanent home for each child in care. Legally, your brother could be adopted by another family, he could be moved into another foster home, or another relative could gain custody of him. The only adults who have rights to keep children when they have been taken from their parents are those who have adopted the children or who have been granted legal custody of them.

4. My unmarried son wants to take his child into my home. Can we do this?

The first thing your son must do is legally establish that he is the father of the child. He should contact his local child support enforcement agency (CSEA) for help. Once he has legally established that he is the father of the child, he can then contact an attorney regarding the establishment of a custody or visitation order.

5. I have legal custody of my niece. Can I become her foster parent so I can get other financial help that the county gives to foster families?

No. Foster homes and foster parents are used only in situations where the county has temporary or permanent custody of the child. If you

Other Major Issues You May Face

Your expenses will increase. Your budget may not stretch to include the increased costs of feeding, clothing and caring for the children. You can apply for cash and/or food assistance through your county department of job and family services. Child support services can be accessed through your county child support enforcement agency.

Medical care for the children will be a concern. Application for medical coverage can be made through your county department of job and family services.

School placement can be a problem because public school districts have the right to limit enrollment to residents of their districts. If the children's status in your home is unclear, they may be denied school entry.

Behavior and discipline may present challenges because the children may act out feelings of anger, fear and sadness. You may need to find counseling and professional guidance for them from a social worker, clergy person, doctor or other adult caregiver.

have legal custody, there can be no foster home placement under current laws. You are entitled to seek child support from both parents. You can also apply for Ohio Works First, if your niece is under the age of 18. You may also be eligible for time-limited payments under the Kinship Permanency Incentive (KPI) program. (See page 16.)

6. Should I consult an attorney?

Responsibility for the care of a child is a serious matter, and it is your right to seek legal advice. Whether the parents, the county, or you have custody of the child, legal issues are involved. There is often more than one right answer to the question of what is the best placement for the child.

7. Do I have to give information about my income and financial resources to receive any government assistance for relatives in my care?

If you seek cash assistance or Medicaid coverage for yourself and/or Food Assistance for your household, you must disclose your income and financial resources. If you are requesting assistance only for the child in your care, you may not be required to give financial information.

8. Does my income count in applying for child care assistance?

Yes. You would have to meet all eligibility requirements for the subsidized child care program, including financial need, based on your gross monthly income. It is important to note that, in all cases, the child care subsidy is available only to caregivers who are working full-time or part-time or are enrolled in education or training leading to employment. The child care subsidy pays a part of the child care cost; the family pays some of the cost on a sliding fee scale. The state issues payments to eligible providers of child care services, which include licensed child care centers and certified family child care home providers.

Frequently Asked Questions About Kinship Care, Continued

9. I am caring for my grandchildren, and I am worn out. Is there someone I can talk to about my problems?

Yes. You may want to consider counseling for yourself and the children. Also, you may want to join a grandparents' support group, where you can share ideas and concerns and get information. By joining a group, you will get a chance to spend time with others going through the same experiences in caring for children. You will know that you are not alone.

10. I am having trouble reaching one of the county caseworkers involved with my family. What do I do if I can't get the worker on the phone?

If you know the phone number, call the worker's supervisor. If not, call the main number for your county department of job and family services or public children services agency and ask to speak to your caseworker's supervisor. County agency information is listed in the appendix of this resource book.

What is the role of a public children services agency?

If the children in your care were abused, neglected or abandoned by their parents, a part of your county government known as the public children services agency (PCSA) may become involved with your family. The PCSA's job is to protect children from abuse and neglect, and to help their families. Sometimes the agency becomes involved because a family asks for help. Other times, someone else—such as a neighbor or doctor—reports that a child is in danger.

Because it has the important job of keeping children safe, the PCSA has powers that other agencies do not have. If an agency worker finds a child in danger, the agency can take steps to physically remove the child from the parent or other caregiver. For example, a PCSA might remove a child from the parent's home and then ask you to care for the child.

That does not mean that an agency worker can move children from home to home at will. PCSAs must follow laws and rules, and judges must approve their actions. Parents and other caregivers can disagree with a PCSA's actions. They can tell the judge their side of the story, and have a lawyer present any other information that will help the judge decide. The court system—not the PCSA or the parent—will make the final decisions.

Caring for Children Who Were Abused, Neglected or Abandoned

Caring for Children Who Were Abused, Neglected or Abandoned

For more information on receiving mental health services in your county, please call your information and referral service. A list of information and referral services in your county is located in the appendix.

Even if the children in your care are happy to be with you, they have been through a lot. Losing a parent is hard on a child, and so are too many changes. One or both parents may abuse drugs or alcohol, be violent or mentally unstable. Because of these problems, the children in your care may have been hurt physically or emotionally. They may have been left without enough food, or without the care they needed to stay safe and to grow. They may have been allowed to see sexual activity or even have been sexually abused. As a result, the children in your care may need special help to grow and thrive.

In addition to physical abuse or neglect, children who have suffered a loss seem to share several common mental health issues. However, each child's reaction or response to the loss depends on:

- The significance of the loss
- Whether the loss is temporary or permanent
- Inherent coping abilities of the child
- Availability of supports
- Age and cognitive abilities of the child (at the time of the loss and the present time)

Consequently, while some children may react in very extreme ways, others may respond mildly or not at all. In addition, one child may be affected in one area while another child may be affected in another area. Below is a list of common mental health issues that may affect the children in your care.

Grief

When children have been separated from significant figures in their lives, their emotional response is one of grief and mourning. There are five identifiable stages of grief: shock/denial, anger/rage, bargaining, depression and resolution/understanding.

Common Signs of Physical Abuse

- Inflicted bruises such as human hand marks, human bite marks or strap marks.
- Inflicted burns such as cigarette burns, match tip or incense burns, branding burns, or scalds.
- Inflicted retinal hemorrhages or subdural hematomas—a form of traumatic brain injury—caused by direct blows or violent shaking resulting in skull fractures.
- Inflicted head injuries such as subdural hematomas, scalp bruises or black eyes.
- Inflicted abdominal injuries such as ruptured liver or spleen, ruptured blood vessels, or injury to kidneys.
- Inflicted bone injuries such as chip fractures, fractures at different stages of healing, repeated fractures to the same site or unusual fractures such as those to the ribs.
- Underfeeding resulting in an underweight condition, failure to gain weight and ravenous appetite.

Control

Many children who have experienced a loss feel that they have no control over their lives. Consequently, they may try to regain control by being orderly, compulsive, routine-focused or planning ahead. Other youth may demonstrate their need for control via power struggles with authority figures, truancy, defiance, substance abuse or tantrums.

Loyalty

Having at least two sets of parents creates a conflict for the child. The child may feel that closeness and love for one set of parents may be an act of disloyalty toward the other set of parents.

Rejection/Fear of Abandonment

Regardless of the circumstances surrounding the child's loss, the child may feel that s/he was rejected and abandoned by the birth family. To avoid the risk of that happening again, some children may not allow themselves to get close to others, or they may react by continually seeking acceptance and approval from those around them.

Self-Esteem

The perception of being rejected is a direct blow to a child's self-esteem. They may feel unwanted and that something is wrong with them. School performance and self-confidence may suffer.

Trust

This is a particularly crucial issue for children who have had multiple moves during their young lives. Separations at an early age may make it difficult for them to trust and become attached to their new caregivers.

Identity

The lack of information and secrecy that often surround a child's history and birth family make it difficult for the child to establish his/her identity, a major task of adolescent development. The child may find this issue confusing, frustrating and scary.

Not all children will experience problems with these issues. Some may experience minor difficulties at different developmental stages. These minor difficulties may be handled successfully by the kinship caregiver or with the help of a professional. It is recommended that kinship caregivers experiencing these issues find supportive services that can address each child's specific needs.

For more information on mental health services in your county, please call your information and referral service. A list of information and referral services in your county is located in the appendix.

Chapter 3

Finding Help with Expenses

Finding Help With Expenses

Raising children is expensive. No matter how much you love the children in your care, you have to be practical. Before the children came to live with you, you probably had a budget that met your needs (or, at least, almost did). Now it may be strained to the breaking point. This chapter looks at government programs that may help you provide for the children in your care.

Kinship Permanency Incentive Program

The Kinship Permanency Incentive (KPI) program provides temporary financial support for minor children in the legal and physical custody of grandparents, relatives or other “kinship caregivers.” (A kinship caregiver is any relative or non-relative adult who has a long-standing relationship or bond with the child and/or family.) The KPI program is designed to promote permanent commitments by kinship caregivers, by helping defray some of the costs of caring for children.

KPI provides incentive payments to families caring for their kin. Eligible kinship caregivers will receive an initial payment to defray costs of initial placement and may receive subsequent payments at six-month intervals to support the stability of the child’s placement in the home. The maximum incentive amount may not exceed eight payments. Participation in this program does not preclude these families from also receiving child-only Ohio Works First benefits (see page 17). To apply, eligible kinship caregivers need to fill out an application at their local public children service agency.

To be eligible for the Kinship Permanency Incentive, the following conditions must be met:

- A court must have awarded the kinship caregiver legal custody or guardianship of the child on or after July 1, 2005.

Kinship Permanency Incentive Program, Continued

- A public children services agency must have conducted a home assessment and approved the child's placement.
- The gross income of the caregiver's family, including the child, may not exceed 300 percent of the federal poverty guidelines.

Ohio Works First

You can apply for cash, food or medical assistance online, at your local Ohio Benefit Bank site, or your county department of job and family services. Please visit ODJFSbenefits.Ohio.gov or see the appendix for the phone number of the CDJFS in your county.

Kinship caregivers and the children in their care can apply for monthly cash assistance through the Ohio Works First (OWF) program. In order to be eligible for OWF, you must be related by blood or marriage, or be a legal guardian or custodian to the children in your care.

There are two ways kinship caregivers can receive OWF benefits. The first is for you to receive income only for the children in your care. In these cases, the county department of job and family services will not take into account any of your income and will not provide money for you as part of the OWF grant for the children. These are called child-only cases. You will generally be able to receive this money until the child turns 18 or leaves your home.

If you have a child-only grant, you will not be impacted by many of the OWF requirements that you may have heard about (such as work requirements or time limits). However, in order to receive child-only OWF assistance, you must be willing to cooperate with child support requirements to ensure that the child's parents are held financially responsible. You should call a legal service provider if you have more specific questions about receiving this benefit.

What should you take with you when applying for Ohio Works First?

The best strategy is to bring as much information as possible. The more information you can provide, the more quickly your application can be processed. Bring as many of the following items as possible:

- A photo ID, such as a driver's license.
- A rent receipt, house payment book, or lease with the landlord name and phone number. This information verifies your current address.
- A birth certificate for each child, showing the parent's name and the date and place of birth. This helps verify your relationship with the child.
- Social Security cards for all people in your family who have Social Security numbers.
- A visa, green card or immigration papers if you or anyone requesting assistance is not a U.S. citizen.
- Proof of legal custody or legal guardianship.
- Pay stubs covering a period of one month, if you have a job. Pay stubs are necessary only if you are applying for cash assistance for yourself.
- Notice of your last pay raise, if you have a job.

The second way for you to receive OWF for the child(ren) in your care is to be part of the grant yourself. This means that the county department of job and family services will look at your income, and if you are eligible for OWF, include you as part of the grant. You will receive more money because the grant will be for both you and the child(ren) in your care. However, the OWF work and time-limit requirements will apply to you. This means that you will probably be required to work and will be limited to three years of OWF assistance. If you are not sure which type of grant to apply for, it is a good idea to consult with a legal service provider.

Most kinship caregivers receive child-only grants and do not have to worry about work requirements or time limits. One problem many kinship caregivers face during the application process is proving that they are related to the child. You can generally use birth certificates to prove your relationship to the child. In complicated situations, you may need affidavits or other types of proof. If you are having trouble proving your relationship, you should seek help from a legal services provider.

You can apply for Ohio Works First online by going to ODJFSBenefits.Ohio.gov, or by filling out the "Request for Cash, Food and Medical Assistance" (JFS 7200) form and submitting it to your county department of job and family services. You can get the form at your county agency or at <http://www.odjfs.state.oh.us/forms/interfind.asp?formnum=07200>. For your county agency's location and phone number, see the appendix.

What should you take with you when applying for Food Assistance?

The best strategy is to bring as much information as possible with you to your county department of job and family services. The more you can tell them, the quicker your application can be processed. Bring as many of the following items as possible, but remember that you can apply even if you do not have all of these papers. Your intake worker can help you get these documents after you have applied, or if you have applied online.

- A rent receipt, house payment book, or lease with the landlord name and phone number. This information verifies your current address and rent expenses.
- Utility and phone bills to show how much money you generally spend on heat, electricity, water and the telephone.
- Social Security cards for all people in your family who have Social Security numbers.
- Proof of any income deductions you can claim, such as child care expenses, tuition or care for an invalid.
- A visa, green card, or immigration/naturalization card if any member of your household is not a US citizen.
- Bank accounts, to provide proof of your income level.
- Proof of any benefits received through Unemployment Compensation, Social Security, Supplemental Security Income or Veteran Benefits.
- Statements of any scholarships or educational loans.

Food Assistance

You can apply for cash, food or medical assistance online, at your local Ohio Benefit Bank site, or your county department of job and family services. Please visit ODJFSbenefits.Ohio.gov or see the appendix for the phone number of the CDJFS in your county.

If you are eligible, you can use Food Assistance benefits (formerly known as food stamps) instead of cash to buy food at the grocery store. The benefits are approved and placed on a plastic debit card that can be used anywhere in the US. You may use the card by swiping it and entering your personal identification number (PIN). The amount of your purchase will then be automatically deducted from your account.

No sales tax is charged on Food Assistance purchases. These benefits cannot be used to buy non-food items such as soap, diapers, alcohol or tobacco, or hot food purchases that are prepared to be eaten immediately.

You can apply for Food Assistance online by going to <http://ODJFSbenefits.Ohio.gov>, or by filling out the "Request for Cash, Food and Medical Assistance" (JFS 7200) form and submitting it to your county department of job and family services. You can get the form at your county agency or at <http://www.odjfs.state.oh.us/forms/interfind.asp?formnum=07200>. For your county agency's location and phone number, see the appendix.

Your county department of job and family services will decide whether you are eligible by looking at the gross income and counted liquid assets of everyone in the household. Gross income includes almost all cash income, except things like loans and student financial aid. Counted liquid assets include cash, checking and savings accounts. Resources do not include the value of your home or residence, your vehicle or your furnishings.

If you have a child-only OWF grant for the children in your care, your income and assets may be too high for your family to obtain Food Assistance. Still, if you think you might be eligible, you should apply for both programs.

If your household is in a crisis situation, you may be able to get expedited Food Assistance within seven days. You qualify for expedited food stamps if (1) the members of your household have a combined monthly income of $100, (2) your income and resources are not enough to pay the rent or mortgage and utilities this month, or (3) your household is homeless.

* Note: For expedited Food Assistance, only identification is required for verification. If you anticipate having trouble with the application process or getting to the store to use your benefits, you can designate an "authorized representative" to act on your behalf. In that case, the authorized representative also must present identification.

Additional Services and Programs

Post Adoption Special Services Subsidy

The Post Adoption Special Services Subsidy (PASSS) offers eligible families financial assistance to help pay for the treatment of a child's physical, developmental, mental or emotional condition—most often, mental health, respite care and counseling services. Ohio has been nationally recognized for this innovative program. Please contact your county PCSA for more information.

Adoption Assistance

The Adoption Assistance program provides federal funds to states to facilitate the timely placement of children whose special needs or circumstances would otherwise make it difficult to place them with adoptive families. Families eligible for Adoption Assistance receive a monthly subsidy; each subsidy is paid for with a combination of federal, state and, in some instances, local funds. Family income is not considered when calculating this subsidy. Children receiving this benefit may be entitled to other assistance, as well, including Medicaid coverage. Please contact your county PCSA for more information.

State Adoption Assistance Program

The State Adoption Subsidy Program is a state of Ohio financial assistance program that provides monthly maintenance subsidies to families who adopt children with special needs who are ineligible for the federal Adoption Assistance program. Children who qualify for the State Adoption Subsidy Program may also be eligible for Medicaid coverage. Public children services agencies are responsible for determining eligibility for the State Adoption Subsidy Program, and for administering it. The family's income is taken into consideration when determining eligibility for this program.

Child Support

The Ohio child support program provides services that help to ensure that children receive the financial and medical support they are legally entitled to and deserve. In order to be eligible to receive child support, a caregiver must have physical custody of the child. This means that the child must live with and be cared for full-time by the caregiver. The amount of child support that the child's parents will be ordered to pay depends on both their ability to pay and the needs of the child. If the caregiver is already receiving OWF for the child, child support will be paid directly to the county department of job and family services.

Every county has a child support enforcement agency (CSEA) that provides services to obtain and maintain child support. A CSEA can help order child support wage withholding from a parent's paycheck, intercept tax refunds, help to locate an absent parent and/or establish paternity. See the appendix for the phone number of the CSEA in your county.

Publicly Funded Child Care

ODJFS offers financial assistance to eligible parents or legal guardians to pay for child care while they engage in work or approved school or training activities. To be eligible for publicly funded child care, a family's income must not exceed the current limit for the program. Families can be eligible for all or part of their monthly child care expenses. County departments of job and family services determine families' eligibility for this program. For more information, or to apply, inquire at your county department of job and family services. For your county agency's location and phone number, see the appendix.

Prevention, Retention and Contingency Program

The Prevention, Retention and Contingency (PRC) program offers a variety of job training, employment assistance and other work support services to help low-income Ohioans find and maintain employment. Each county determines what PRC services it will provide, based on local needs. This can include such things as clothing and shelter assistance, domestic violence help, housing relocation and disaster assistance, and transportation help (including auto repair expenses or a down payment on a car). For more information, please contact your county department of job and family services. For your county agency's location and phone number, see the appendix.

Housing Assistance

If you are having difficulty making your mortgage payments, call the Save the Dream Ohio Hotline toll-free at 1-888-404-4674. The Save the Dream effort is designed to give struggling homeowners or renters more information about the foreclosure process and link them to possible sources of help, even if foreclosure proceedings have already started.

If you need emergency shelter or want to learn more about possible federal housing assistance, dial 2-1-1 or—if your area does not have 2-1-1 service—your local information and referral service. See the appendix to find the referral service in your county.

More than 75 percent of Ohioans have access to 2-1-1, a free, multilingual and confidential telephone information service that links callers with trained professionals who can give them information about local food banks, shelters, clothing sources, rent assistance, utility help and foreclosure assistance. Like 9-1-1, 2-1-1 is staffed 24 hours a day, seven days a week, 365 days a year.

Home Energy Assistance Program

The Home Energy Assistance Program (HEAP) is designed to help low-income households pay their heating bills. HEAP makes a one-time payment for winter heating to the utility company or provides a voucher for those who do not have a utility bill in their name. In addition, a Winter Emergency Heating Assistance program offers help to those who have been, or are threatened with, being disconnected, or who have less than a 10-day fuel supply. You can obtain a HEAP application by contacting your county department of job and family services. For your county agency's location and phone number, see the appendix.

Home Weatherization Assistance Program

The Home Weatherization Assistance Program (HWAP) is a no-cost energy assistance program designed for customers whose annual household income is at or below 200 percent of the federal poverty guidelines. Services include installation of improved insulation and heating system repair or replacement. For more information, call the Ohio Department of Development's Office of Community Services at 1-800-282-0880.

Chapter 4

Finding Help with Medical Services for You and the Children in Your Care

Healthy Start and Healthy Families Programs

The Healthy Start and Healthy Families Medicaid programs offer free and low-cost comprehensive health care coverage to families, children (up to age 19) and pregnant women with limited income.

You may apply for Healthy Start and Healthy Families for yourself and for the children in your care. If you are receiving OWF through a child-only grant, the children in your care are automatically eligible, and no separate application is required. If eligible for coverage, your household will be issued a health card with a number. This card must be presented to your doctor, hospital or pharmacist each time you receive medical services or fill a prescription.

Additional Services and Programs

Women, Infants and Children Program

The federal Women, Infants and Children (WIC) program provides grants to states for supplemental foods, health care referrals and nutrition education for low-income pregnant, breastfeeding and non-breastfeeding postpartum women, and to infants and children up to age five who are found to be at nutritional risk. Participants in the program receive coupons that can be used at authorized local stores to purchase nutritious foods such as milk, cheese, eggs, juice, beans, peanut butter, cereal and, if not breastfeeding, infant formula. Breastfeeding mothers may receive tuna and carrots. WIC has income-related and other eligibility requirements. For more information, and to locate the health agencies, hospitals and community action agencies in your county that provide WIC services, call the Help Me Grow Helpline at 1-800-755-GROW (4769).

How to apply for Healthy Start and Healthy Families

Apply for Healthy Start and Healthy Families online by going to benefits.ohio.gov, or by filling out the “Application for Health Coverage and Help Paying Costs” (ODM 07216) and submitting it to your county department of job and family services. You can get the form by calling the Medicaid Consumer Hotline at 1-800-324-8680 or by visiting your county agency. For your county agency’s location and phone number, see the appendix.

You also can get help completing an application:

- Online: Visit benefits.ohio.gov.
- Phone: Call the Medicaid Consumer Hotline at 1-800-324-8680.
- In person: Contact your county department of job and family services.

No face-to-face interview is required when applying for health coverage using the “Application for Health Coverage and Help Paying Costs.” However, you may need to submit the following items:

- Proof of income
- If pregnant with more than one fetus, proof of pregnancy, including the number of fetuses
- Alien status (if not a U.S. citizen)
- Other health insurance coverage (if applicable)

Presumptive Eligibility

The Presumptive Eligibility program is available for children younger than 19, pregnant women, parents or caretaker relatives living with children under 18, and adults ages 19 to 64. The program allows for temporary enrollment in Medicaid while an application for Medicaid is being processed.

No application is required for Presumptive Eligibility. Eligibility is determined through the county department of job and family services or qualified entity in your county.

All Medicaid services are covered for children, parents or caretaker relatives, and adults ages 19 to 64. Only ambulatory prenatal care services are covered for pregnant women (for example, doctor visits and prescription drugs). Inpatient hospital stays and labor and delivery are not covered in the Presumptive Eligibility program for pregnant women. Finding Help with Educational Services

Finding Help with Educational Services and Other Services

Kinship caregivers may find that the children in their care face challenging educational experiences. It is important for caregivers to have a good grasp of the rights and protections available to children in public schools, so they can effectively advocate for the children's needs.

Children who exhibit learning and behavioral problems may qualify for federally mandated identification and individualized services. Once identified, these children are entitled to appropriate interventions. The Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA) guarantees children with disabilities from ages 3 to 21 an appropriate, free public education designed to meet their individual needs.

Kinship caregivers can quickly and effectively seek school intervention by a written request for an evaluation and services. This letter should be mailed to the child's school principal and superintendent. Once received, the school district must act upon the request. Under IDEA, school districts must complete action within 90 days after receipt. Testing must be completed, reported and, if the child is found to be eligible, a special education plan must be developed within this time frame. To be eligible for services, the child must have one of the following: mental retardation, hearing impairment, speech or language impairment, visual impairment, serious emotional disturbance, orthopedic impairment, autism, traumatic brain injury, other health impairments, specific learning disability, or developmental delay for children ages 3 to 9.

If the children in your care are experiencing difficulty in school, contact your school principal or district superintendent's office for more information. For help obtaining appropriate educational services for the children in your care, contact one of the Special Education Regional Resource Centers on pages 29 - 30.

Special Education Regional Resource Centers

Special Education Regional Resource Centers provide timely and specialized assistance to parents and school personnel.

- They assist school district personnel in providing appropriate services to children with disabilities, through technical assistance and cooperative planning.
- They provide regular and special education teachers, support personnel, administrators and parents with resources designed to improve the quality of instruction for children with disabilities, through the delivery of instructional materials and methodologies designed to meet the individual needs of children with special needs.
- They provide staff development to local school district personnel and parents, on an individual and team basis, to improve the quality of instruction for children with disabilities.

Special Education Regional Resource Centers

Special Education Regional Resource Centers play an essential role in statewide networking, advocacy on behalf of students with disabilities, and state and national outreach and information dissemination. Below is a list of Special Education Regional Resource Centers and the counties they serve:

“Red Flags” for the Need for Referral and Services

- The child was held back a grade.
- The child has failing grades.

- The child has multiple behavior problems in school and/or multiple in-school suspensions.
- The child has experienced out-of-school suspension or expulsion.
- The child is more disorganized than is normal.
- The child has a medical or mental health problem giving rise to school-related problems (such as attention deficit disorder, depression, anxiety or obsessive compulsive disorder).

Additional Services and Programs

Head Start

When a preschool-aged child comes to live with you, many questions come to mind. How can you be sure the child gets a good start mentally and physically? How do you care for a toddler properly without wearing yourself out? How can you prepare the child for elementary school? Enrolling the child in Head Start may be the answer to these and other questions. Head Start is a federally funded, all-day program for preschoolers that provides education, enrichment and many other services to small children and the adults raising them. The children enrolled in the program receive breakfast and lunch through the program.

Head Start provides the following services to children ages 3-5 who live at or below the federal poverty level, as well as children with disabilities and their families:

- Early childhood education
- Medical services
- Dental services
- Nutrition services
- Parent education
- Other social services

To obtain more information about Head Start or to apply, contact the local Head Start agency in your community.

OGKC aims to identify kinship care issues and propose solutions to government and other agencies on behalf of grandparents and other kinship care providers. The coalition meets six times per year and invites all kinship caregivers and professionals to attend. For more information, visit OGKC's website at www.ohiograndparentkinship.org/.

Chapter 6

Finding Help with Legal Services
and Understanding Legal Terms

Finding Help with Legal Services

As you raise the children in your care, you probably have your hands full. Lawyers—and, in fact, the whole legal system—may be the last thing you want to think about. You also have to be concerned about expenses. You may be thinking, “OK, if I must go to court, I’ll do it on my own.”

These concerns are legitimate, but the truth is you will probably have to use the legal system, and the services of a lawyer, if you continue to raise the children in your care. You will have to take some steps to keep the children safe and secure. You will probably need legal papers just to get them medical care or enroll them in school. You may also need legal help to plan for their future or to keep them safe from harm. You will need to make decisions that require sound legal advice.

Making the Law Work for You

This chapter explains the legal process and what it can and cannot do for you. It shows how decisions you make may affect the children in your care and your family. It also includes tips on finding the right lawyer—and what to do if you can’t pay for one.

Only you can decide what is right for your family, not your lawyer, not your neighbor, not your best friend. Start by looking at the needs of the children in your care and thinking about how best to meet them. Then think about what will work for your family. Be honest about what you do well and what will be hard for you. Try not only to think about today, but also later when the children—and you—are older. Remember that the law is a tool, and a lawyer is someone who can help you use that tool. With effort, you can make the law work for you.

Finding a Lawyer

Look for a lawyer with experience in abuse and neglect law, guardianship, and adoption. Ask if the lawyer knows about any program (like SSI or adoption subsidies) that may be an option for your family.

The decisions you make about legal issues are important. A lawyer can help you understand what each choice may mean for your family, and whether those choices might result in any legal risks. A lawyer can also help to work out agreements with the parents and present facts to the judge. If the children in your care need cash benefits or medical coverage from the government, a lawyer may help with this, too.

The attorney you hire should be one who knows the law, who will work well with you, and who can argue effectively for the rights of the children in your care. Call the offices of a few lawyers and ask about their legal experience and fees.

Look for a lawyer with experience in abuse and neglect law, guardianship and adoption. Ask if the lawyer knows about programs (such as SSI or adoption subsidies) that may be an option for your family.

When you find an attorney you like, preferably one who gives free initial consultations, make an appointment. Go to that first meeting with a list of the main facts of the case. Provide the lawyer with all of these facts, including facts that could hurt your case. Agree to hire the lawyer only if you feel comfortable with that individual and if you feel that you can work as a team.

If You Can't Afford to Pay

Legal Services. Also known as Legal Aid, these law offices help low-income people with common legal problems. A list of legal resources can be found at the end of this chapter.

Law School Clinics. If you live near a law school, see if they have a clinic that represents kinship caregivers in child welfare or custody cases. A law student may be able to work with you, supervised by an experienced lawyer.

Pro Bono Lawyers. Sometimes private lawyers will work for free or for a reduced fee. If you are trying to change an unfair law or challenge an unfair state policy, you might find an interested lawyer. For more information, call the Ohio State Bar Association at 614-487-2050. Also contact your county or city bar association to see if they might have pro bono attorneys willing to take your case.

What is Legal Custody?

If you are an adult kinship caregiver, court-ordered legal custody can give you certain rights and responsibilities with respect to the child you are raising. Legal custody will allow you to:

- Provide emotional support for the child.
- Determine where and with whom the child will live.
- Make many of the major decisions regarding the child's care, upbringing, education and medical needs.
- Provide food, shelter, education and ordinary medical care for the child.
- Protect and discipline the child.

Legal custody is not limited to parents and blood relatives. If it is best for the emotional and physical well-being of the child, the court may award legal custody to an unrelated person who has demonstrated a willingness and ability to raise the child.

When a child is born, the mother automatically has legal custody—and so does the father, if they are married. Kinship caregivers, however, must go to a court to get legal custody of the children in their care.

Types of Legal Custody

There are three ways to gain legal custody of a child:

A Custody Order. If a judge issues you a custody order, this means you will be responsible for the child's day-to-day care but the parents will continue to have a legal relationship with the child. They will have a right to visit (unless the judge says they cannot) and could someday ask a judge to return custody to them.

Guardianship. If you are appointed the child's legal guardian, this means you will be given day-to-day responsibility for the child, while the parents keep some rights. The main difference between a custody order and guardianship is that guardianship is usually granted in the probate court, with different rules.

Adoption. If you adopt the child, you will become the child's legal parent in every way. The legal relationship between the child and the child's birth parents will end, and you will decide if and when they visit. The birth parents will never again have the right to ask a judge to send the children back to them, except in extremely rare situations during the first year after an adoption decree is issued.

Two Other Options

If you are a grandparent currently caring for your grandchild, but you do not have legal custody or guardianship and are unable to make decisions about and access educational and medical services for your grandchild, there are two other ways you can obtain "care, physical custody and control": a Power of Attorney or a Child Caretaker Authorization Affidavit.

Power of Attorney

Power of Attorney allows you temporarily to:

- Authorize your grandchild's enrollment in school.
- Access educational information.
- Be involved in the child's educational planning.
- Provide consent for educational activities.
- Arrange for the child's routine and emergency medical, dental and psychological treatment.

To obtain Power of Attorney for your grandchild, you must:

- Fill out the appropriate form. (Refer to the appendix.)
- Understand and agree to the terms regarding Power of Attorney.
- Provide the signature of the consenting parent, yourself and the official notary.
- File the form with your local juvenile court within five days of signing.

A Power of Attorney does not give you authority over your grandchild's adoption, marriage or custody arrangements. If you have questions about obtaining a Power of Attorney, call the Ohio Department of Job and Family Services' Kinship Program Coordinator at 614-466-1213.

Caretaker Authorization Affidavit

If you have tried but failed to locate your grandchild's parents after making reasonable efforts to do so, you may obtain a Child Caretaker Authorization Affidavit. The Child Caretaker Authorization Affidavit allows you temporarily to:

- Authorize your grandchild's enrollment in school.
- Access educational information.
- Be involved in the child's educational planning.
- Provide consent for educational activities.
- Arrange for the child's routine and emergency medical, dental and psychological treatment.

To obtain a Child Caretaker Authorization Affidavit, you must:

- Fill out the appropriate form. (Refer to the appendix)
- Understand and agree to the terms regarding the Child Caretaker Authorization Affidavit.
- Provide your signature and that of an official notary.
- File the form with your local juvenile court within five days of signing it.

A Child Caretaker Authorization Affidavit does not give you authority over your grandchild's adoption, marriage or custody arrangements. If you have questions about obtaining a Caretaker Authorization Affidavit, call the Ohio Department of Job and Family Services' Kinship Program Coordinator at 614-466-1213.

What is Foster Care?

Foster Care is a federally mandated program administered by public children services agencies and supervised by the Ohio Department of Job and Family Services. The purpose of foster care is to provide a safe environment for children and youth who temporarily cannot live with their families. The goal of foster care is to safely return the child to the parents or, when that is not possible, move the child into an adoptive or permanent home. In cases where a court has found a child to be abused or neglected, the court may certify a related caregiver or family friend as the foster parent.

Once a child is formally placed with a relative or friend who has been officially approved and licensed as a foster parent, the public children services agency (not the caregiver) maintains legal custody over the child. In the eyes of the law, the public children services agency is considered the legal custodian of the child and has ultimate control over all decisions concerning the child, including the decision to keep or not to keep the child in the caregiver's home. While the foster caregiver does have certain daily responsibilities for the care of the child, the caregiver does not have legal authority unless legal custody, guardianship or adoption is pursued.

POWER OF ATTORNEY

I, the undersigned, residing at _____, in the county of _____, state of _____, hereby appoint the child's grandparent, _____, residing at _____, in the county of _____, in the state of Ohio, with whom the child of whom I am the parent, guardian, or custodian is residing, my attorney in fact to exercise any and all of my rights and responsibilities regarding the care, physical custody, and control of the child, _____, born _____, having social security number (optional) _____, except my authority to consent to marriage or adoption of the child _____, and to perform all acts necessary in the execution of the rights and responsibilities hereby granted, as fully as I might do if personally present. The rights I am transferring under this power of attorney include the ability to enroll the child in school, to obtain from the school district educational and behavioral information about the child, to consent to all school-related matters regarding the child, and to consent to medical, psychological, or dental treatment for the child. This transfer does not affect my rights in any future proceedings concerning the custody of the child or the allocation of the parental rights and responsibilities for the care of the child and does not give the attorney in fact legal custody of the child. This transfer does not terminate my right to have regular contact with the child.

I hereby certify that I am transferring the rights and responsibilities designated in this power of attorney because one of the following circumstances exists:

- (1) I am:
 - a. Seriously ill, incarcerated or about to be incarcerated,
 - b. Temporarily unable to provide financial support or parental guidance to the child,

- (2) I am a parent of the child, the child's other parent is deceased, and I have authority to execute the power of attorney; or
- (3) I have a well-founded belief that the power of attorney is in the child's best interest.

I hereby certify that I am not transferring my rights and responsibilities regarding the child for the purpose of enrolling the child in a school or school district so that the child may participate in the academic or interscholastic athletic programs provided by that school or district.

I understand that this document does not authorize a child support enforcement agency to redirect child support payments to the grandparent designated as attorney in fact. I further understand that to have an existing child support order modified or a new child support order issued, administrative or judicial proceedings must be initiated. If a court order names me the residential parent and legal custodian of the child who is the subject of this power of attorney, and I am the sole parent signing this document, I hereby certify that one of the following is the case:

- (1) I have made reasonable efforts to locate and provide notice of the creation of this power of attorney to the other parent and have been unable to locate that parent;
- (2) The other parent is prohibited from receiving a notice of relocation; or
- (3) The parental rights of the other parent have been terminated by order of a juvenile court.

This POWER OF ATTORNEY is valid until the occurrence of whichever of the following events occurs first:

- (1) I revoke this POWER OF ATTORNEY in writing and give notice of the revocation to the grandparent designated as attorney in fact and the juvenile court with which this power of attorney was filed;
- (2) The child ceases to reside with the grandparent designated as attorney in fact;
- (3) This POWER OF ATTORNEY is terminated by court order;
- (4) The death of the child who is the subject of the power of attorney; or
- (5) The death of the grandparent designated as the attorney in fact.

WARNING: DO NOT EXECUTE THIS POWER OF ATTORNEY IF ANY STATEMENT MADE IN THIS INSTRUMENT IS UNTRUE. FALSIFICATION IS A CRIME UNDER SECTION 2921.13 OF THE REVISED CODE, PUNISHABLE BY THE SANCTIONS UNDER CHAPTER 2929.  - (3) Child's social security number (optional): _____
 - (4) My name: _____
 - (5) My home address: _____

 - b. I am unable to locate or contact one of the child's parents and I am not required to contact the other parent because paternity has not been established; or
 - c. I am unable to locate or contact one of the child's parents and I am not required to contact the other parent because there is a custody order regarding the child and one of the following is the case:
 - i. The parent has been prohibited from receiving notice of a relocation; or

(9) I hereby certify that this affidavit is not being executed for the purpose of enrolling the child in a school or school district so that the child may participate in the academic or interscholastic athletic programs provided by that school or district.

I understand that this document does not authorize a child support enforcement agency to redirect child support payments. I further understand that to have an existing child support order modified or a new child support order issued administrative or judicial proceedings must be initiated.

WARNING: DO NOT SIGN THIS FORM IF ANY OF THE ABOVE STATEMENTS ARE INCORRECT. FALSIFICATION IS A CRIME UNDER SECTION 2921.13 OF THE REVISED CODE, PUNISHABLE BY THE SANCTIONS UNDER CHAPTER 2929. OF THE REVISED CODE, INCLUDING A TERM OF IMPRISONMENT OF UP TO 6 MONTHS, A FINE OF UP TO $1,000, OR BOTH.

shall notify, in writing, all of the following:

- (a) Any schools, health care providers, or health insurance coverage provider with which the child has been involved through the grandparent;
- (b) Any other person or entity that has an ongoing relationship with the child or grandparent such that the person or entity would reasonably rely on the affidavit unless notified of the termination;
- (c) The court in which the affidavit was filed after its creation.

The grandparent shall make the notifications not later than one week after the date the affidavit terminates.

7. The decision of a grandparent to consent to or to refuse medical treatment or school enrollment for a child is superseded by a contrary decision of a parent, custodian, or guardian of the child, unless the decision of the parent, guardian, or custodian would jeopardize the life, health, or safety of the child.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION:

To caretakers:

1. If the child stops living with you, you are required to notify, in writing, any school, health care provider, or health care insurance provider to which you have given this affidavit. You are also required to notify, in writing, any other person or entity that has an ongoing relationship with you or the child such that the person or entity would reasonably rely on the affidavit unless notified. The notifications must be made not later than one week after the child stops living with you.
2. If you do not have the information requested in item 7 (Ohio driver's license or identification card), provide another form of identification such as your social security number or Medicaid number.
3. You must include with the caretaker authorization affidavit the following information:
 - (a) The child's present address, the addresses of the places where the child has lived within the last five years, and the name and present address of each person with whom the child has lived during that period;
 - (b) Whether you have participated as a party, a witness, or in any other capacity in any other litigation, in this state or any other state, that concerned the allocation, between the parents of the same child, of parental rights and responsibilities for the care of the child and the designation of the residential parent and legal custodian of the child or that otherwise concerned the custody of the same child;
 - (c) Whether you have information of any parenting proceeding concerning the child pending in a court of this or any other state;
 - (d) Whether you know of any person who has physical custody of the child or claims to be a parent of the child who is designated the residential parent and legal custodian of the child or to have parenting time rights with respect to the child or to be a person other than a parent of the child who has custody or visitation rights with respect to the child;
 - (e) Whether you previously have been convicted of or pleaded guilty to any criminal offense involving any act that resulted in a child being an abused child or a neglected child or previously have been determined, in a case in which a child has been adjudicated an abused child or a neglected child, to be the perpetrator of the abusive or neglectful act that was the basis of the adjudication.
4. If the child's parent, guardian, or custodian acts to terminate the caretaker authorization affidavit by delivering a written notice of negation, reversal, or disapproval of an action or decision of yours or removes the child from your home and if you believe that the termination or removal is not in the best interest of the child, you may, within fourteen days, file a complaint in the juvenile court to seek custody. You may retain physical custody of the child until the fourteen-day period elapses or if you file a complaint, until the court orders otherwise.

To school officials:

- 1. This affidavit, properly completed and notarized, authorizes the child in question to attend school in the district in which the grandparent who signed this affidavit resides and the grandparent is authorized to provide consent in all school-related matters and to discuss with the school district the child's educational progress. This affidavit does not preclude the parent, guardian, or custodian of the child from having access to all school records pertinent to the child.
- 2. The school district may require additional reasonable evidence that the grandparent lives at the address provided in item 5 of the affidavit.
- 3. A school district or school official that reasonably and in good faith relies on this affidavit has no obligation to make any further inquiry or investigation.
- 4. The act of a parent, guardian, or custodian of the child to negate, reverse, or otherwise disapprove an action or decision of the grandparent who signed this affidavit constitutes termination of this affidavit. A parent, guardian, or custodian may negate, reverse, or disapprove a grandparent's action or decision only by delivering written notice of negation, reversal, or disapproval to the grandparent and the person acting on the grandparent's action or decision in reliance on this affidavit.

To health care providers:

- 1. A person or entity that acts in good faith reliance on a CARETAKER AUTHORIZATION AFFIDAVIT to provide medical, psychological, or dental treatment, without actual knowledge of facts contrary to those stated in the affidavit, is not subject to criminal liability or to civil liability to any person or entity, and is not subject to professional disciplinary action, solely for such reliance if the applicable portions of the form are completed and the grandparent's signature is notarized.
- 2. The decision of a grandparent, based on a CARETAKER AUTHORIZATION AFFIDAVIT, shall be honored by a health care facility or practitioner, school district, or school official unless the health care facility or practitioner or educational facility or official has actual knowledge that a parent, guardian, or custodian of a child has made a contravening decision to consent to or to refuse medical treatment for the child.
- 3. The act of a parent, guardian, or custodian of the child to negate, reverse, or otherwise disapprove an action or decision of the grandparent who signed this affidavit constitutes termination of this affidavit. A parent, guardian, or custodian may negate, reverse, or disapprove a grandparent's action or decision only by delivering written notice of negation, reversal, or disapproval to the grandparent and the person acting on the grandparent's action or decision in reliance on this affidavit.
