Tabletop Exercise Tests the Communications Center Alternate Dispatch Site

On September 29, 2016, the Warren County Communications Center hosted a tabletop exercise to discuss the procedures for safely and rapidly switching our dispatch operations to our alternate site when the Communications Center is inoperable. Key personnel were present including Emergency Services Administration, Supervisors and an Emergency Communications Operator, Warren County Telecommunications, Warren County Career Center, as well as representatives from The Warren County Sheriff's Office, Franklin Police and Fire Dept. and Mason Fire Department.

The scenario presented was a severe thunderstorm with a lightning strike that depleted all of the Center's communications as well as the back up generator. Everyone involved in the exercise had their own area of concentration as their main concern: Telecom was involved in supporting the Communications Center and getting them back up and running; police and fire units were concerned with the safe continuity of their emergency operations while the Career Center was concerned by any interruption or inconvenience for their staff and students if the outage was sustained for a long period of time.

All participants were able to get a better understanding for where this project is currently at and what we need to plan and prepare for as we move forward.

The Devils Staircase Hill Climb

By Nancy Machulskiy

This race has been held on the Powell Farm every year since 1948. It occurs on the second Sunday in October which, as we all know in Dispatch, corresponds to the same weekend of the Waynesville Sauerkraut Festival, making it one of our busiest weekends of the year! The event has only been cancelled one time during its 68 year history.

The Hillclimb has been hosted by the Dayton Motorcycle Club since 1973. By the time property owner, Fritz Powell, died in April 2008 at the age of 86, the event had been held on his property for over 50 years and, according to local lore, he stipulated in his will that the property would be made available to host the hillclimb for another 50 years!

The “Staircase” features a trio of stair step-like jumps at the 15-, 40- and 70-yard marks that give the hard clay hill its reputation. It is not a natural course but is, rather a groomed run that measures 360 feet long and 25 feet wide. No one knows the hill’s incline for certain but one racer reported that it is so steep he had to climb the hill on foot, down on all fours during his “pre-event survey” of the course.

Participants are not permitted to practice on the hill—they are allowed two runs only. The winner is the fastest one to reach the top. The race has not been without tragedy—in 2011 Shawn Farnsworth was killed in a crash and in 2014 AMA Racing Pro , Todd Libhart was killed when his motorcycle flipped over and landed on top of him.

In The Spotlight

Dispatch Priority ProQA By Chris Dill

Specifically designed to improve call taking efficiency, Priority Dispatch Pro QA was created with the goal of increasing responder safety. A consistent high level of service is maintained by automatically providing appropriate questions for various types of emergencies and incidents. These questions are intended to assist the calltaker in quickly determining the appropriate call type and response for each incident. Pro QA then guides the calltaker to provide relevant pre-arrival instructions before responding units arrive on scene. One feature that responders may not know exists, is that there is an “Urgent Message” box, where if a suspect flees the scene or any other pertinent information is given, the calltaker can immediately enter that information and the responder can be updated within seconds.

A rating of “High Compliance” is achieved when the protocol is followed exactly as it was designed without any deviations. Each month, more and more of our employees are receiving high compliance ratings as they work to master this tool. We want to recognize each and everyone of these employees as they continue to improve.

Call of the Month

On September 9, 2016, Ava Campbell took a 911 call for an accident with injuries. The original report indicated that the vehicle had rolled over and one of the occupants had been ejected and was laying in the roadway.

Ava moved through the protocol obtaining all pertinent information, remaining calm and assuring the caller that help had already been dispatched and was on the way. This was one of Ava’s calls for which she achieved a high compliance rating.

Good job, Ava!

We are currently hiring for the following positions:

- LEADS/Training Coordinator
- Emergency Communications Operator
